Subject: Prayers and Support Needed for "Wonder Woman"

Friends,

Many of you are already aware that our fellow classmate and dear friend, Jessica Marsh (Dobos) is potentially facing a second battle with cancer. Cancer was foolish enough to mess with her recently and she absolutely demolished it with the most positive attitude and optimism any of us have ever seen. Her strength throughout the first ordeal was truly inspiring. Now it may be back and we're all certain that she will squash it again. We are asking for an immediate and abundant outpouring of prayers and support for Jess and her family. She's one of us... she is OUR family. Over the past few days, word has literally spread world-wide and Jess is tracking the locations of people who are praying for her. If you're on Facebook, check out the map that she has where you can see the overwhelming support. Let's bind together as a team and throw our support into the ring as well. Let her know that we love and support her and that there is absolutely no question that we are winning this fight. Anybody that knows Jess, is well aware that she's an amazing mother & wife and lives to serve others - as is evident through her career & volunteer work, etc. People like this are hard to come by and they are the most deserving of our dedication. Contact her today and let her know that you're on Team Jessi.

Her biopsy is scheduled for this Thursday (7/2/15) at 7am. Please pray first and foremost that the doctors are mistaken and that she does not have cancer again. If we discover otherwise, it's up to all of us to help carry her to the victory line. She may have to endure surgery and months of chemo. Are you ready? Get onboard #teamjessi!
